

PAULINE HOME COUNSELLING CENTRE, MULKI.

Mr. John D'Souza, son of the late Mr. Paul and Mrs. Paulina, owned half an acre of land in Mulki, a small town on the coast of Karnataka. Desiring to contribute to the mission of the Sisters of St. Ann of Providence, he generously donated the property to the Congregation.

On 16 January 2019, the long-cherished dream of Sr. Charlotte Sequeira, the then Provincial Superior, to establish a Counselling Centre in Mulki became a reality when she laid the foundation stone for this new initiative. This marked the beginning of a compassionate ministry dedicated to reaching out to people experiencing emotional distress and personal difficulties.

Named "Pauline Home" in honour of the donor's mother, the Counselling Centre initially began its services in a modest two-room facility. Under the able leadership of Sr. Severine Menezes, it gradually developed into a welcoming and well-equipped centre, with improved infrastructure and an expanded range of services.

Today, Pauline Home is a vibrant centre that welcomes individuals and families seeking emotional support, guidance, and counselling. Through compassionate listening, understanding, and professional guidance, the centre helps people cope with their challenges, regain emotional strength, and enhance their overall well-being. Through this ministry of healing and compassionate care, the Sisters continue to make God's loving presence felt in the lives of those who seek their support.
